ANNIVERSARY
WEEKEND

OCTOBER 14 – 16, 2022

GREETINGS AND WELCOME TO GLEBE'S 100TH
ANNIVERSARY REUNION!

It may have been a long time since you walked the halls of the Glebe Collegiate Institute, or maybe it wasn't that long ago. Either way, we're so very glad you've decided to attend this weekend of events, celebrating the 100th anniversary of our school.

Your organizing committee has volunteered countless hours over the past two years to plan the program for this anniversary weekend. We hope the events over the weekend set the stage for you to take a walk down memory lane, in the building where you spent so many hours, and bumping into old friends and faces from the past, as well as the many current students and teachers who are also helping out over the next three days.

Whether your high school days were glorious times of fun, filled with sport, music, art, drama, learning, or even sometimes challenges, they undoubtedly played a large part in shaping the adult you are today. We hope you have a wonderful time revisiting those by-gone days with us.

WELCOME BACK!

MESSAGE FROM PRINCIPAL ROBIN SMALL

Let us begin with the acknowledgement that our celebrations this weekend take place on unceded and unsurrendered Algonquin Territory. We thank the Algonquin Nation for hosting us.

Welcome to Glebe Collegiate Institute's 100th anniversary weekend. It is an honour to be Glebe's new principal during this special anniversary year. As I stood at the entryway welcoming students back to school this past September, I thought about the first students admitted one hundred years earlier. It is fun to imagine the evolution of norms, school rules, fashion, curricula, and texts over time. Although a lot has changed, there was always a common purpose: everyone who passed through Glebe's grand doors came to access opportunities and to work towards their dreams.

We look forward to having this time to reminisce about those dreams and share our stories, while also exploring and learning more about our school's history.

Thank you to all of the incredible volunteers who made this weekend possible.

Thank you to all of you for being here. Enjoy this weekend, and be well.

Glebe Collegiate Institute:

A Historical Sketch

The “Glebe Building” of the Ottawa Collegiate Institute opened its doors for the first time on the bright fall morning of Monday, September 11, 1922. The first students, an excited crowd of young teenagers, chattered noisily outside while their eyes took in the height and breadth and smooth modernity of the new buff brick building that had reared its three stories of solid collegiate Gothic on the sand dunes of Carling and First at Percy Street. Everything was new. Desks not yet screwed to the floor shone from their unscarred tops. Within a year, Glebe had 935 students.

The Glebe district itself was new. When the Glebe Trustees of St. Andrew’s Church began to sub-divide their property, the Collegiate Institute Board bought the site for their new school. After World War I, the Ottawa Collegiate Institute on Lisgar Street had already overflowed into the old Waller Street Public School.

The Board did not consider themselves to be building a new school so much as providing an annex for the 79-year-old one, the “Lisgar Building”. Parts of the Ottawa Collegiate Institute, both Glebe and Lisgar shared the same motto, Alere Fammam (nourish the flame), which is carved in stone over Glebe’s main entrance. Glebe’s motto was later changed to In Alta Tende (strive for the heights).

Until 1928, the two buildings shared a principal, Dr. A.H. McDougall. In 1931, Glebe became separate from Lisgar.

Glebe continued to grow, reaching a high of 1742 students in 1938. Under the wise leadership of Dr. McDougall, Glebe gained a reputation for innovation and high standards in academics, athletics, the arts, and extra-curricular activities.

Glebe occupied only the front half of today's building; the rear half having been built in 1928 as the High School of Commerce. When the New High School of Commerce opened on Rochester Street in 1967, Glebe took over the whole building.

Glebe's students reflect the demography of the Glebe and other communities from which they come. For Glebe's first sixty years or so, most students and teachers shared a narrow social and cultural background, largely Christian, white, Anglo-Saxon.

(Text partly adapted from "Glebe, The First Twenty-five Years", by Elizabeth Serson".)

For Glebe's last forty years or so, however, students come from much more diverse social and cultural backgrounds. This is partly reflected in clubs and associations such as the Black Student Association, Muslim Student Association, and Gay-Straight Alliance. And, of course, the internet has created opportunities for innovative approaches to teaching and learning.

Largely unchanged over the one hundred years is the striving for the high standards originally inspired by Dr. McDougall, and students' involvement in the life of the Glebe.

And a special thank you to the security and custodial staff, student council, school council, and all the Glebe teachers and students who supported this event.

THE SCHOOL SONG

We will fight and we will battle for the good of Glebe

    We are proud of the yellow and blue,

On the track and in the gym and on the football field

    We are first and our equals are few.

    and her name ever greater shall be.

Glebe Collegiate, Glebe Collegiate we will fight for thee

    Our school G L E B E.

THE SCHOOL CHEER

Two bits, four bits, six bits a dollar,

Everyone from Glebe, stand up and holler,

    Who are you? Who am I?

    We're the 'folks' from GCI.

A rick, a rack, a rick, a rack,

    Hullabaloo, bala bala,

    Humpty Dumpty rickety rack,

    Sis! Boom! Ba!

    Glebe! Glebe!

    RA RA RA

Yaaaaah.... GLEBE!!!
